Efficiency Is Showing Up on Farms

Prospects of increased efficiency in farming operations during the coming season and evidence of progress last year are showing up on several. Hempstead County farms as the result of systematic check-ups on the past year's operations, W. M. Sparks, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, reports.

At the end of each farm business year, those farm families using Farmers Home Administration credit to buy, improve, or operate their farms analyze their past year's business. After noting the strong and weak points in their operations, they make plans for better farming during the coming year. Assistance in this analysis and planning is supplied by the Farmers Home Administration County office personnel.

Arrangements to use this service in connection with loan funds advanced by the agency are part of each family's agreement with the Farmers Home Administration. The service is known as the year-end analysis.

To enable the farm families to make full and efficient use of their labor and increase their income, careful consideration is given to the adequacy and full utilization of their land, livestock and equipment. When necessary, loan funds are provided to attain or develop the needed resources.

Among the improvements planned as a result of farm records recently analyzed in the Hempstead County Farmers Home Administration office are improved systems of farming, soil and water conservation measures, better cropping practices, improved herd management, farm drainage, weed control, and other improved farm and home management practices. A better balance between cash crops and livestock operations is needed in many instances.

Mr. Sparks said he and all other county supervisors keep in close touch with the local county agricultural agents, the State College of Agriculture, experiment farms, and the work of other agencies to equip themselves to assist borrowers in taking advantage of the latest developments in agriculture.

One Dead as Fire Destroys Hotel

SALLISAW, Okla. (AP)—Fire totally destroyed the main building of the Bonham Hotel here last night, apparently killing the elderly night clerk in the flames.

Fifteen persons were in the two-story framed structure when fire broke out shortly before midnight, but only Mrs. Jean Mosher, 70, was missing. She was last seen helping policy guests of the fire. Firemen and police began combing the ruins today, looking for the woman's body.

Howard Bonham, son of the owner, said a man draped in a sheet, identified as Richard Nelson of Sallisaw, gave the alarm after jumping from a second-story window.

Bonham said he was talking with Mrs. Mosher in the office about 11 p.m. when Nelson dashed in. He quoted Nelson, a truck driver, as saying he awoke to find his bed and the floor of the room on fire. Bonham said he and Mrs. Mosher began immediately to notify the 10 guests and the three other members of the Bonham family, living in the hotel, of the fire.

17 Missing in Korean Plane Crash

By C. S. CHIN

SEOUL (AP)—Search crews scoured the banks of the muddy Han river today for 17 or more Americans unaccounted for in the crash of a double-deck Globemaster transport. Five of the 195 persons listed on the big plane's manifest were known dead.

The 90-ton C-124—the U. S. Air Force's biggest type transport plane—fell and burned on an island in the Han's mouth last night just after taking off from Kimpo Airfield for Tokyo.

The Army and Air Force, co-operating on the search and rescue operations, gave conflicting reports on the number of casualties.

U. S. 8th Army headquarters here listed 5 dead, 17 missed and 143 rescued. It said 43 of the survivors were injured seriously enough to require hospitalization. Air Force headquarters in Tokyo said there were 5 dead, 20 missing and 134 rescued.

The plane's manifest listed 10 crew members and 149 passengers, mostly servicemen on route to Japan for rest leaves. One civilian was among the passengers.

However, an Air Force spokesman in Korea said it was possible there were more passengers not included on the manifest. The big Globemasters can carry more than 200 troops, in canvas seats on each of their two decks.

Four crewmen were among the missing. The other crew members were flown to Taichikawa Air Base in Japan, all suffering minor injuries.

The pilot, Capt. James Cartwright, 37, of Elkhart, Ind., suffered head, face and body bruises and cuts.

Department Store Sales Up Some

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District averaged 3 per cent higher last week than for the same week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis said today.

Little Rock scored a 13 per cent increase while eight smaller cities and St. Louis were 5 and 3 per cent higher, respectively, the bank said.

Memphis sales were the same and the Louisville area reported a 2 per cent drop in sales, it was reported.

For the four weeks ended last Saturday, district sales averaged 1 per cent larger than in the corresponding period a year ago, the bank said.

Seeks Funds for Atomic Aircraft

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he will seek "several hundred million dollars" in additional defense funds to speed work on a nuclear-powered aircraft.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told newsmen the requested budget would provide only a fourth as much money for developing the plane as was appropriated this fiscal year. He criticized a Pentagon slowdown decision on the atomic plane.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), formerly Sec. of the Air Force, said he would support Russell. Air Force officials have said actual construction of an atomic plane is at least several years away.

Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, who since has resigned as assistant secretary of defense for research and development, told newsmen Feb. 7 that "we originally were a little optimistic" on the plane's development, but said it now "is being stretched out for technical reasons." It was not a matter of economy, he indicated.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, spent more than three hours behind closed doors yesterday, giving the armed services committee a review of all defense programs.

Wilson said that some projects had been cut back sharply. Russell said later that Wilson apparently believed that the atomic plane was "so complex and complicated" that Soviet Russians cannot perfect it.

The Senate chairman said a similar attitude would have kept this country from discovering "how to split the atom and how to produce a nuclear-powered submarine."

Acid Blast in Texas Leaves Seven Injured

PASADENA, Tex. (UP)—A huge tank filled with 100,000 gallons of caustic acid exploded today, sending fire through the Champion Paper & Fibre Co. plant and endangering the Houston ship channel industrial area for more than an hour.

Seven men were injured in the blast, none critically, and "several dozen" more received minor burns from a spray of acid that swept across the scene as hundreds of spectators were held back by police.

The flames were brought under control within two hours and officials announced at 11 a.m. that all major danger was over. The fire spread pall of smoke over the Pasadena area that could be seen for miles. It drew curious onlookers in such numbers that police had to block all traffic into the area.

The Washburn tunnel under the ship channel was closed to keep traffic out of the area.

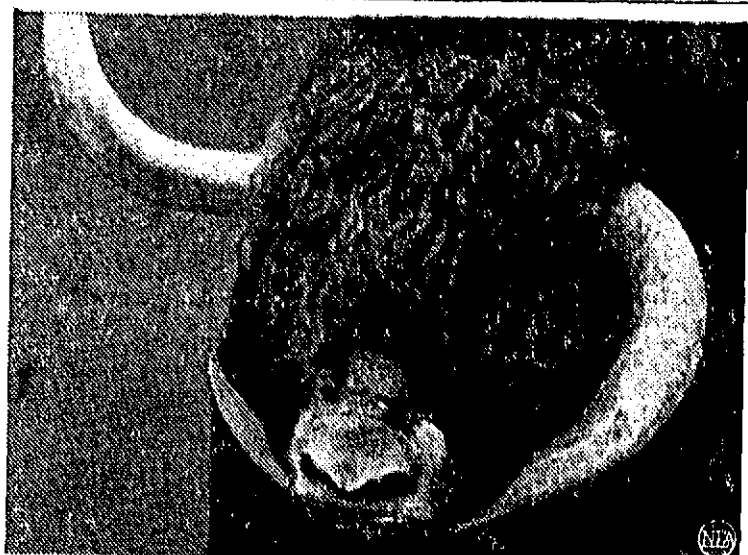

The Champion plant, which employs 1,800 persons, is on the south side of the ship channel - gateway from Houston through Galveston to the Gulf of Mexico — and adjacent to the tunnel as well as to the Crown Central Petroleum Co. refinery and tank farm.

Firefighters were rushed to the scene from Houston, Galena Park, Jacinto City and other nearby towns. Houston Fire Chief Joe Lobue said many firemen "will show up with severe burns from the acid."

Pope Pius Blesses U. S. Sailors

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XI sponsored today to cheers of U. S. sailors and appeared at his apartment window to give them his blessing.

The sailors were officers and crewmen of the aircraft carrier USS Yorktown, now anchored in Naples Bay. Nearly 2,000 of the carrier's men, visiting Rome, assembled in St. Peter's Square.

Israeli Has Big Plans for Fast Growing Port

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Hanhoch Nemer, the energetic mayor of Eilat, usually starts off the day asking his secretary "What's the population today?"

His town is growing so fast he can't keep up with it. Since November, when Israeli forces broke an 8-year Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, the tiny port has doubled its population of 850 and soon is expected to reach 2,000.

By any comparison it still is tiny. But Israel is making big plans and pinning high hopes on Eilat's future. Israelis envision it as a great shipping and commercial gateway to east Africa and Asia. They see it also as a major terminal of projected overland routes across Israel that would be at least a partial alternative to the Suez canal.

Headquarters of the Israeli Navy is at Eilat on the southernmost tip of Israel. It is Israel's only access to the deepwater gulf which flows into the Red Sea 100 miles to the south. Israel owns only a six-mile stretch of shoreline around Eilat. Along the rest of the shoreline are Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the east and Egypt on the west.

For Israel, Eilat's future depends on free navigation for the Gulf of Aqaba for their ships and the vessels of other nations.

For that reason, the Israelis are desperately determined to keep open their newly won "Gateway to the East" with its potentially rich trade with east Africa and Asia.

And for the same reason Israel, for the time being at least, is defying the United Nations by refusing to withdraw from the southern tip of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula which commands the narrow strait between the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba.

To protect its access, Israel set up a naval command at Eilat soon after the November Sinai campaign. She sent two navy frigates from Haifa on the Mediterranean around the Cape of Good Hope to take up their station at Eilat and at the same time sent overland by truck several torpedo boats and landing craft which now are in Eilat harbor.

Last week the Interior Ministry established the port of Eilat and Eilat airfield as official frontier posts for entry and exit from Israel. In recent weeks eight morning vessels have docked at Eilat, which before November was almost completely idle.

The present port facility consists of one concrete jetty, built several years ago, capable of handling ships up to 4,000 tons. The development program calls for improving the jetty to provide berthing space for three vessels at the same time up to 10,000 tons in size and dockside equipment for the mechanical loading and discharge of bulk cargo such as grain, phosphates and potash.

The closing of the Suez Canal and the simultaneous opening to Israeli shipping of the Gulf of Aqaba accentuated Eilat's potential importance as an alternative to the canal and the route round the Cape of Good Hope as well as an outlet for Israel's products and a possible new route for the supply of oil to Western Europe.

The new Negev pipeline which starts at Eilat and runs to Beer-sheva in central Israel is nearing completion. This is an eight-inch pipeline intended to carry oil for Israel's own needs. It will carry 800,000 tons annually, or about half Israel's annual consumption.

A proposed larger pipeline from Eilat to Haifa or another outlet on Israel's Mediterranean coast is shaping up as an alternative to Suez as a means of supplying some Mideast oil to Western Europe.

This project already is in the blueprint stage and negotiations are under way for French financing. It is planned as a 32-inch pipeline capable of carrying 20 to 25 million tons of oil annually and

Crewman Dies Following Plane Crash

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A civilian mechanic, badly burned when a crippled Navy jet fighter plane just missed a school yesterday and plunged into a garage, died last night. The pilot's body was found a few hours later.

None of the schoolchildren were hurt and school officials planned a thanksgiving service today. The Rev. Dr. Harold White, a Presbyterian minister who teaches a class in English literature, said the students wanted to offer "thanksgiving to God for sparing our lives."

The blazing plane whizzed toward this small town in northeastern North Carolina, then skidded across the empty Perquimans High School recreational area and crashed into the school's garage. It exploded, setting the garage afire.

Hundreds of children in the school were due to be dismissed for classes in physical education in the recreational area 10 minutes after the plane crashed. School principal E. C. Woodward said the recreational period had been delayed some 10 minutes from its usual starting time.

The slightly burned body of the pilot, Ens. William W. Bull, a native Longton, Kan., was found in a field on a farm five miles from the crash scene. Navy and Coast Guard officials have not determined whether he fell or jumped from the blazing craft.

A Coast Guard spokesman at nearby Elizabeth City said, "He apparently stayed with the burning plane as long as he could, then ditched it. His parachute could have burned on the way down, if he got it open."

Forsees Demands for Water Supply

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government needs to prepare for doubled demands upon the nation's water supply 23 years hence, Congress has been told.

Secretary of Interior Seaton said in a report made public today, that present water use in the United States amounts to 250 billion gallons a day—six times the 1900 rate.

"It has been estimated," he said "that by 1980 use will be about double present day requirements," adding:

"There is a tremendous demand for water in our cities, in our industries and in the arid and semi-arid areas which are now under irrigation."

"Our problem is to explore both surface and subsurface resources throughout the nation, to encourage the development of processes to make use of our vast sources of brackish and saline waters, and to store for proper utilization the surface waters in the areas of the west."

Seaton's report was directed to a House appropriations subcommittee in support of steel budget requests for the geological survey and the office of salinity water.

Possible Break in Middle East Trouble Seen

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP)—U. S. officials said today Egyptian agreement to allow U. N. troops into the Gaza strip may break the current Middle East deadlock.

But Israeli officials here adopted a less hopeful attitude. "Egypt has made promises in the past," one Israeli official said skeptically.

American diplomatic action on the Israeli-Egyptian crisis came to a virtual standstill as U. S. officials awaited the arrival tomorrow afternoon of Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban.

Eban, who left only Monday headed back to Washington from Israel with his government's latest answer to President Eisenhower's call for withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

High administration officials said they would delay reaching a decision on possible sanctions against Israel until after hearing from Eban.

Six Arab nations formally brought a proposal for sanctions against Israel before the United Nations yesterday.

But the White House said the United States would not declare itself on the issue until possibly Monday. That killed the chances for immediate action in the United Nations.

Then came the announcement of Egypt's agreement. U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld told the U. N. General Assembly that Egypt had agreed to permit U. N. troops to enter the Gaza Strip upon withdrawal of Israeli troops.

"The door is certainly not closed to further discussion of the situation," the White House said.

Georgia Would Oust U. S. Justices

ATLANTA (AP)—A resolution calling for the impeachment of six members of the U. S. Supreme Court was high in the list of unfinished business today as the Georgia Legislature began the final day of the current session.

The proposal passed the Senate 37-11 yesterday after a hot floor debate during which it was denounced as "ridiculous" and a "bit of tomfoolery." It then was sent back to the House for approval of an amendment which deleted one "undocumented" section.

The resolution was introduced in the Georgia Senate by administration floor leader Peyton Flawes, who admitted that it was "not going to turn the world upside down. But with it we say to these Supreme Court justices, 'We read your decision and our blood boiled.'"

The resolution charged Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas, Reed, Frankfurter and Clark with "high crimes and misdemeanors" in connection with the high tribunal's secession and racial decisions.

It asked Georgia's congressional delegation to institute the impeachment proceedings, but delegation members shown little enthusiasm for the proposal.

"The decision on the school question does not constitute high crimes and misdemeanors by the Supreme Court," said Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) in Washington. "Therefore, I am not introducing a resolution of impeachment nor am I voting for a resolution of impeachment."

House Opposes Gasoline Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The House today adopted a resolution expressing its opposition to a suggested one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax.

The resolution is identical with one approved in the Senate earlier this week.

Another House-approved resolution called on Congress to study the possibility of removing excise taxes on transportation originally imposed as a World War II emergency measure but retained after the war.

is expected to take two years to build.

Israeli shipping agents now are offering to carry shipments from Europe to East Africa ports at savings of 30 per cent under the Cape of Good Hope route, and in about half the time or four weeks required around the Cape. On this route, European shipments are loaded at Haifa, transhipped across Israel by rail and truck and loaded onto freighters at Eilat.

Israeli industrialists hope to sell potash from the Dead Sea, phosphates from the central Negev, as well as clay, copper and other products to Japan and other Asian nations. Such sales would be only economic when shipped through Eilat. Transshipment of such bulky cargoes through the Mediterranean and around the Cape of Good Hope would be too expensive.

Whatever the outcome of the political dispute over the Gulf of Aqaba, little Eilat is for the present at least a boom town. Warehouses and huge oil storage tanks are being built near the shore. Harbor installations are being improved. Bulldozers are carving new roads and improving old ones.

Compromise on Split of Road Funds Tried

LITTLE ROCK — Another attempt was under way at the capitol today to bring together the divergent forces struggling over a division of state, city and county road funds.

Three separate meetings were scheduled informally for the noon hour.

Representatives of the Arkansas Municipal League were in conference in the lieutenant governor's office with Sen. Marvin Melton, Jonesboro and J. B. Lambert, member of the committee for adequate roads.

Melton would say only that "We have a rough draft of a bill but we cannot make it's provisions public until after we have discussed it with the interested groups. We're going over it now with the Municipal League."

The Jonesboro senator said a joint six-man committee from the Senate, Roads and Highways Committee and the House Cities and Towns Committee would meet on the problem during lunch and it will be "discussed this afternoon with county judges."

Melton said the proposed bill was purely one of distributing funds among the three divisions. He would not discuss what division of funds would be made.

Senator Says Secret Files Startling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today papers subpoenaed from the files clearly that they have an important effect on the policies of the United States in the Middle East.

O'Mahoney told a reporter one of the papers reveals that Secretary of State Dulles had a secret meeting with executives of the international oil firms last August when the Middle East crisis was starting to boil.

He said the meeting was just before Dulles went to an urgent London conference called because of Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal in July.

"The papers in the possession of the subcommittee show that these major oil companies have the inside track in consulting and in knowing what our government is going to do in this area," O'Mahoney said.

O'Mahoney heads an investigation by two Senate subcommittees of recent oil price rises and the effort to supply petroleum products to Western Europe.

Some documents subpoenaed from 11 oil firms already have been disclosed in the hearings. O'Mahoney said others would be made public later.

The hearings now are in recess until next Wednesday. Most of the oil companies remain to be heard.

O'Mahoney said that the plan "to provide a substitute flow of oil for our Western allies, a perfectly proper program that must be carried out, nevertheless has been turned over to the major oil companies to carry out, and they have been given a sweeping exemption from the antitrust laws of the United States."

"This has given them great power, and it certainly is something the Congress must look into," he said.

The senator said he wanted to emphasize that "the operations of the Middle East emergency Committee—composed of major oil firms—and the Middle East resolution submitted by the President relate to the same thing."

"You cannot separate oil from Middle East policy," he said. "The resolution now is being de-

DOROTHY DIX Ex-Steedy Fears Being Rejected Second Time

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several months ago I broke off with Bert, my steady, for reasons which now seem unimportant. I guess I didn't realize how much I liked him until he wasn't around.

Now he has started to attend socials at our church and I see him every Saturday night. He asks me to dance, is very friendly and nice, but never suggests that we start dating again. Friends say he still likes me. If so, why doesn't he ask me out?

Lorraine

Dear Lorraine: The problem seems to stem from the original breakup. If the things that caused it are really unimportant, and you are convinced that they won't come up again, discuss the matter with Bert. He may want to date you again, but may not be willing to risk another defeat.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My problem is probably one for a clergyman. However, I lack the courage to speak to one. My husband and I are regular church members but my conscience bothers me as much. I get no peace from church. When my husband was in service, I went out with another man, and was unfaithful. I feel so guilty. How can I find peace?

Troubled

Dear Dorothy Dix: It is quite obvious that the only way you will find peace of soul is by talking to a man of God. If you can't approach your own clergyman, see one who is a stranger to you. The initial step will be difficult to take, but the resulting peace will be worth it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am the mother of four children, all under 6. My husband's motherlives with us, adding expenses and work to the household. Although she has six daughters, everyone but me agrees that my husband, the only son, should be the one to care for her. All the sisters have more money than we, and have only one, or no, children. Is it fair for me to be burdened with everything?

Just Tired

Dear Tired: Your sisters-in-law are pretty smooth operators. Not only can they push off their responsibilities onto the weakest member of the family, but they can make their arguments stick. If you can get hubby to stand by you, the girls can be made to take over. Actually, daughters are usually closer to mothers than sons, and certainly than daughters-in-law. Naturally, you wouldn't be mean about it, but do insist on a fair shake.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've known a very nice boy for about a month. On our last date he suggested that I meet his parents. I agreed, but never heard from him again.

Josie

Dear Josie: The parents were undoubtedly something less than enthusiastic about their son's plans. Naturally, he'd be embarrassed to make a retraction, so has decided that, in this case, absence is the part of valor.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of March, 1957, the City of Blevins, Arkansas, will offer for sale for cash to the highest and best bidder at a public sale to be held at 7:00 P. M. in the office of the Mayor in Blevins, Arkansas, two bond issues that are being issued for the purpose of constructing and installing a municipal waterworks system.

The bonds of both issues shall be callable for payment prior to maturity on an interest paying date with funds from any source at par and accrued interest to the date of payment, upon thirty days' prior notice. The city will furnish for each issue the printed bonds and the unqualified approving opinion of Messrs. Townsend & Townsend, Commercial National Bank Building, Little Rock, Arkansas, bond counsel. Bidders may bid for either one or both of the proposed issues, but their bids must be made separately and must be sealed bids, which will be publicly opened at the time and place set out above. The city reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and each shall file with his bid a certified check drawn on a bank that is a member of the FDIC in the amount of 2% of the face value of the issue upon which he is submitting a bid. This check must be payable to or endorsed to the City, to be retained as liquidated damages if the successful bidder fails to complete the purchase of the bonds. The issues are as follows:

An issue of $10,000 bearing interest payable semi-annually at the rate of 3 3/4% per annum, issued under the authority of the provisions of Amendment No. 13 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and to be secured by and payable from a levy on the taxable property in the City of Blevins. The 1955 assessed valuation of the City's taxable property is $74,880. The bonds will be dated June 1, 1956, and will mature on June 1 of each year as follows:

$200 in each of the years 1959 through 1963, both inclusive; 300 in each of the years 1964 through 1973, both inclusive; 400 in each of the years 1974 through 1979, both inclusive; 500 in each of the years 1980 through 1985, both inclusive; 600 in the year 1986.

The second issue is $28,500 in water revenue bonds and will be issued under the provisions of Act No. 13 of the 1935 Session. These bonds will be payable solely from a fixed amount of the revenue to be derived from the waterworks system and the City will pledge to charge water rates sufficient to provide for the payment of these bonds. The bonds will be dated June 1, 1956, will bear interest payable semi-annually at the rate of 4 1/4% per annum, and will mature serially on June 1 of each year as follows:

$500 in each of the years 1959 through 1965, both inclusive; 1000 in each of the years 1966 through 1978, both inclusive; $1500 in each of the years 1979 through 1980, both inclusive.

Jet Hits Garage, Three Injured

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A Banshee jet fighter plane today fell on a garage next to the Perquimans County High School in Hertford, N. C., a naval spokesman reported at Norfolk.

The spokesman said the Coast Guard reported two civilian mechanics were injured. The pilot of the plane reportedly bailed out of the craft and was injured. No school was injured, the Coast Guard said.

Eden Arrived in Auckland for a Rest

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (UP) — Sir Anthony Eden arrived here today haggard, pale and leaning on a cane after two ship-board bouts with the intestinal ailment and fever which forced his resignation as prime minister last month.

But the 59-year-old statesman was well-informed and ready to talk about the Middle East crisis which helped break his health and brought him to New Zealand for a month-long rest in the sun.

"I see there is argument about freedom of passage in the Gulf of Aqaba," he told reporters in a conference aboard the liner Rangitika before it docked.

"I think there should be international freedom there just as I think there should be international freedom in the Suez Canal."

Eden's wife, Lady Claryssa, leaped up in agitation and looked out the port hole when newsmen asking her ailing husband's views of the Middle East.

But Sir Anthony continued his comments. "Passage through the Aqaba Gulf would be of value as an oil route for the free world," he said.

He said Israel had been promised free passage through the Suez Canal and was entitled to it. At this point his wife, obviously worried about his health, broke up the news conference by saying she wanted to see the view of Auckland as the ship pulled into the harbor.

Eden said two attacks of high fever aboard ship in recent days had weakened him. "But I feel better now," he said.

Dr. Peter Hinds, the 27-year-old ship's doctor who treated Eden on the 24-day voyage from England, denied emphatically that the former prime minister had suffered a stroke.

CHAPTER XXIII

Morgan closed the door. Helen sat behind the rough desk. Jagger on a chair beside her. Jagger's face was as bruised as Morgan's own, possibly a little more.

"My brother," Helen went on, "does not care to discuss another topic than the one for which we summoned you here. Namely, the dissolving of the firm of Jagger & Morgan."

"Ask your brother," Morgan said, feeling ridiculous even as he spoke. "Does he expect me to buy him out, or does he intend to buy my share?"

"My brother is not in a position to buy your half interest in the firm," Helen Jagger said stiffly. "and since I am the keeper of the records, I know that you are not in a position to buy him out."

"Just what is my position?" "I will read you the figures," she dropped her eyes to the books.

"The townsite of Pawnee City, or as much of it as still remains unsold, consisting of business and residential lots. Value $200,000."

"Bought," said Morgan, "for $20 and two bottles of whiskey." "Approximately 1,000 acres of prairie land adjacent to Pawnee City, $10,000."

"Five thousand acres of prairie land, recently purchased, $50,000."

"When did we acquire that?" Morgan asked. "Mr. Jagger purchased it as an investment for the firm of Jagger & Morgan."

"The Drovers Hotel, $25,000." "The Longhorn Saloon, $25,000."

"The Pawnee City Bank, $50,000." "Stockyards and loading pens, $50,000."

"Six business buildings, vacant or leased, $50,000." Helen paused to take a deep breath. "Total assets, $400,000."

She picked up another sheet of paper: "Liabilities, $35,000 owed various firms in Kansas City, from building of property in Pawnee City. Various and sundry miscellaneous bills, 2,550.62."

Morgan said, "Well, I put up $2,500 in cash. I'll sell out my interest for 50 thousand—"

"I have already told you," Helen said patiently, "that Mr. Jagger is not in a position to buy you out. He prefers to divide the assets—"

"And the debts?" "Since he took the responsibility of incurring them, he will assume them."

"All right," Morgan said, "how do we divide? Straight down the line? He takes the hotel, I take the bank—"

"The hotel," Helen said, "the saloon, the bank, the stockyards and loading pens AND the six business buildings have a total value of $200,000. Mr. Jagger says he will accept these assets and assume the bills and debts. He believes he is being more than fair in permitting you to have the unimproved property in Pawnee City, the 6,000 acres of farmland, with a total valuation of $200,000."

"Telt Mr. Jagger I accept this generous offer," Morgan said tauntly. "He can have the papers drawn up."

Joe Jagger and the slate unopposed candidates were elected on Aug. 1.

The day following, a cowboy galloped his horse up and down the street. Of course he also discharged his revolver a number of times. He aimed mainly at the blue sky but one of his shots went wild and struck a horse tied to the hitchrail in front of The Longhorn Saloon.

The horse happened to be a newly purchased mount, belonging to Wild Jack Mason, who spent about four hours every afternoon and about the same time every evening, playing faro in The Longhorn. He also spent a few hours at The Texas Saloon.

Someone told Wild Jack that his horse had been wounded by a stray bullet. Wild Jack waited until the faro dealer had gone through the deck, from soda to hock, then went out and examined his injured horse. He found that the bullet had gone through a leg of the animal, crippling it.

Wild Jack, being a man of mercy, sent a man of the town to find the owner of the horse. When he went up the street and found the cowboy who had shot his horse, reeling into The Texas Saloon.

Wild Jack called him some names. The cowboy went for his gun and Wild Jack placed a bullet neatly between his eyes.

Wild Jack reappeared later that evening, and won $200 playing faro.

Two days later, a crew of workmen began constructing a building of heavy plank, the Pawnee City Jail. It was to be of two rooms; the one in the rear was to have a small, barred window and would serve as the jail for the prisoners. A small room in front would be the marshal's office, for it developed that the new constitution of Pawnee City provided for a paid marshal. The jail building, it also developed, was to be the chambers and courtroom of the justice of the peace, Judson Drake.

The next issue of The Pawnee City Lance carried an article, announcing the appointment of the justice of the peace.

A Few Facts From a TV Notebook

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Loose leaves in a television notebook:

9:30 a. m. — Man at the A. C. Nielsen Co., television audience rating firm, telephoned and asked: "Guess what politician had the biggest television audience during the 1956 political campaigns?"

Eisenhower No. Nixon No. Stevenson Oh, no, no, then who? Herbert Hoover.

The former President came on CBS-TV for five minutes on Monday evening, Oct. 29, in time pre-empted from the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program — and just before "I Love Lucy." His audience, reports Nielsen, was larger than that of any speaker during the campaign.

Any theories? Did Godfrey help Did Lucille Ball help Or did Mr. Hoover do it all by himself. You take your pick.

10:45 a. m. — A call from Philadelphia, with good news: On Tuesday, March 5, NBC-TV will again present "Mongana," a filmed study of a medical missionary in the Belgian Congo. If you missed it last October, June 10, to quote this department at the time, it was "one of the most moving and absorbing documentaries in many months." And that still goes these many months later.

12:30 p. m. — Leaning forward and speaking with sincerity, Ginger Rogers said:

"Yes, I am interested in doing a regular television program, but I haven't found what I want."

What does she want? "How will I know until I see it," she asked, smiling. "But I'd want to include all the things I like to do: drama, comedy, a little dancing, a little singing."

4 p. m. — Mail call: Mrs. Gregory P. Carter of Newport News, Va. writes: "You have just lost one reader — well, perhaps not a reader but certainly a follower of your criticism. Now only curiosity will keep me reading your column. In your column on NBC-TV's 'Mayerling' you startled and disappointed this quite normal schoolteacher a 'commemorator' to be sure."

"Granted that 'Mayerling' is a fragile love story, is there no place left in today's world for the enhancement, the tenderness of such a theme? You tell your readers that today's dramatist and actor must labor to arouse the sympathy of us 'commoners' for the rich."

"Must you, too, Mr. Mercer, perpetuate the materialistic philosophy of today's America? Must everything revolve around the class struggle?"

The National Beef Council reports that the six most prominent breeds of cattle in the U. S. are, in order of their numbers: short-horns, herefords, aberdeen Angus, galloway, brahma and santa gertrud.

June Allyson, Dick Powell Separate

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — June Allyson and Dick Powell have separated.

Their friends weren't surprised; the Powells reportedly had separated before, for brief periods yet the fans considered it a most romantic union.

But a parting of the ways was acknowledged for the first time last night by both Powell and Miss Allyson, who were wed 11½ years ago. He is 32, she is 33.

"We have not been getting along in the past few years, even though we tried," conceded Miss Allyson. "I have decided that Richard and I have a better chance for happiness if we are apart from one another."

Said Powell: "It's true we have not been getting along, but I thought it was worth another chance. Unfortunately June did not agree."
